Members of the Hualapai Tribe:

By now, you have heard the disheartening news that Las Vegas businessman David Jin decided to file frivolous lawsuits against individual members of our Tribal Council. Sadly, it is part of a dishonorable campaign being engineered and choreographed from a Nevada company against the Hualapai people. Just yesterday, a federal judge rejected Jin's initial legal maneuver, ruling on behalf of the Tribe. We're confident that the judge will continue to see through Jin's bogus legal claims, which are completely without merit.

This issue is simple: it's about right and wrong, fairness and honor. Jin has failed to abide by his contractual obligations and keep even the most basic promises he made to the Hualapai people.

We will fight these lawsuits and continue moving forward with our plans to preserve and enhance the Skywalk. I would like to provide you some details about our plans, which may include the Tribal Council considering legal action involving the Skywalk to protect our world-class treasure. Let me be clear: The Tribe does not want litigation. It is not the Hualapai way. We have spent years negotiating with Jin, but he refuses to complete the work he promised. The Tribe has simply had enough. Our people – and tourists from across the globe – deserve better.

Unfortunately, Jin is using the worst scare tactics that are untrue and offensive. His reckless allegations are designed to divide our community, using fear to stifle open, honest dialogue. We will not let his blatant disregard of decency stop the progress of our people. Our community is filled with proud, hard-working families who value the rich history and legacy of the Hualapai Tribe. Many of our members played an integral role in the Skywalk's creation and success. Because of you, we welcome visitors from around the world to our magnificent land and give them the opportunity to view the Grand Canyon from a unique perspective.

As you know, we entered into an agreement with Jin to develop the Skywalk and manage the project. The deal seemed straightforward and genuine; Jin would finance construction of the Skywalk, a visitors' center and gift shop. In exchange, we awarded Jin the management contract for Skywalk and the surrounding facilities. Revenue generated by the Skywalk and the gift shop would be evenly divided between the Tribe and Jin. The new source of funds would benefit and improve the social fabric of the Hualapai people and help us better the quality of life for our members – especially our youth. In 2007, the Skywalk opened to much fanfare and large crowds that flocked to the site.

Now, four years after the Skywalk's grand opening, Jin has failed to abide by his contractual obligations and keep promises he made to our community. The visitors' center is an empty shell – an uninspiring building that sits idle with exposed wiring hanging from the ceilings and holes in the floor. There are port-a-johns, not luxurious bathrooms, as Jin promised for the thousands of tourists who visit from around the world. Worse yet, there are no electricity, water or sewer utilities running to the attraction at all. It's an appalling breach of the contract.

Some of the most painful allegations made by Jin accuse our people of being dishonest in our financial dealings. It is deeply insulting and nothing could be further from the truth. The Tribe uses revenues generated by the Skywalk to build roads, provide basic services and infrastructure for the Hualapai people. That is what's so frustrating: Mr. Jin isn't just hurting the tourists who visit the Skywalk, he's impacting the well-being of the 2,100 members of the Hualapai Tribe.

We have repeatedly asked Jin to keep his promises and complete the work. That has not happened. Despite Jin's sensational claims, the Tribal Council is still considering an array of legal options, including an eminent domain action, to protect the rights of the Hualapai people and end this painful dispute. If the Council decides to exercise its eminent domain rights, the Tribe is ready and more than willing to pay Jin fair market value for his financial commitment. Once the situation is resolved, it will allow the Tribe to complete the Skywalk Visitors' Center and provide a world-class facility that tourists from around the globe deserve.

We have spent years negotiating with Jin, but he refuses to complete the work he promised and honor our contract. The Council has simply had enough.

I pledge to keep you updated as this situation continues to unfold. Please do not hesitate to contact my office with any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Wilfred Whatoname, Sr.

Public Notice: Grand Canyon West Not Affected by Potential Gov- ernment Shut- down of National Park

Hualapai Tourism has received an influx of inquiries regarding the potential government shutdown of Grand Canyon National Park, as reported in the Associated Press article earlier today (4/7/2011). All Hualapai Tourism products are located on the Hualapai Indian Reservation, which operates independently from the National Park. Grand Canyon West (home of the Skywalk), the Hualapai Ranch cabins, the Hualapai Lodge and the Hualapai River Runners (the only one-day Grand Canyon whitewater raft trip) will be completely unaffected and all will remain open to the public despite the potential government shut- down. Many of the Grand Canyon sightseeing tours will not be affected because most companies already include Grand Canyon West in their itinerary.

For visitors to confirm the location of their trip, they can get more information about Hualapai Tourism products by calling 888-868-9378 or visiting www.grandcanyonwest.com.

Which man-made sites are destined to become new American icons?

By Jayne Clark, USA TODAY / Posted Mar 31 2011 6:00AM

The April issue of Budget Travel magazine has an interesting piece on American icons (places, not people), with tips on how to best experience them.

The writer wisely limits her picks to man-made entities, thereby avoiding the Grand Canyon vs. Yellowstone debate. The dozen icons mentioned include the usual suspects -- Hoover Dam, Mount Rushmore, the Statue of Liberty.

More intriguing are four locales the article singles out as "icons in the making." They are:

-- Grand Canyon Skywalk, the 4-year-old, gravity-defying glass-and-steel platform that juts out over a western section of the canyon on the Hualapai Indian Reservation.

-- Millennium Park in downtown Chicago, with its fanciful sculptures and fountains.

-- Fallingwater, the Frank Lloyd Wright-designed cantilevered house in the gorgeous Laurel Highlands of western Pennsylvania.

-- Boston's Fenway Park, the oldest of the major-league stadiums, which turns 100 next year.

But what about Walt Disney World? Or, for that matter, the stunning Frank Gehry designed Walt Disney Concert Hall in Los Angeles?

Here's your chance to prognosticate. What man-made U.S. sites do you think are destined to become American icons?

HUALAPAI RIVER RUNNERS NEWS (3/2011)

A new beginning ...The Hualapai River Runners (HRR) officially began their season on March 15, 2011! Before anyone is selected into any position with HRR, they must undergo training. This year, we had 35 participants.

The 1st week, Rudy Clark led us through Personal Development & Team Building. Special thanks & appreciation to Rudy Clark, Chairman Whatoname, Cheryl Beecher, Linda Havatone, Wynona Sinyella, Grant Tapija, Jr., for leading us to paths of understanding, healing & Hualapai culture.

The 2nd week, our instructors Julie Munger & Abigail Polsby of Sierra Rescued us through an intensive course in Wilderness Advanced First Aid (WAFA). Participants learned what to do when confronted with remote emergencies. We received hands-on instruction & gained skill in Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) techniques for adults, children & infants, Anatomy & Physiology, Splinting Lab, Wounds Lab, Anaphylaxis/Injection Lab, Patient Assessment Labs that included first aid kits to dress fake wounds, Improvised Splinting Lab & Litter & Backboard Packaging, Frostbite & Dislocations Lab; we watched videos on trauma, allergies & heart attack. Each participant received varying degrees of certification in Wilderness First Responder (WFR), Wilderness First Aid (WFA), Wilderness Advanced First Aid (WAFA) and CPR.

The 3rd week, our trainers Julie & Abby took us to train on the mighty Colorado River to physically work through rescue scenarios, access problems & real river rescues. We learned Swiftwater Technical Rope skills concentrating on efforts toward a victim's rescue in hard to get to areas as well as in swiftwater. Participants learned time-breathing & swimming rescue into a Class 3 rapid until our team pulled us to safety. This course was mentally & physically challenging. We learned the value of teamwork & trusting our teammates rescue skills in a frightening situation when it was easy to give up. We were definitely stretched to our limits and gained valuable experience to assist our river running customers.

Congratulations! The following individuals completed 11 days of training & 92± hours of certification in Wilderness First Aid (WFA), Wilderness Advanced First Aid (WAFA) & Swiftwater Rescue. Please congratulate them for their accomplishment in completing this physically & demanding training! HRR/GCRC is very proud of them.

March 29, 2011

Dear Community Members,

In July of 2004 the Hualapai Tribe updated its Law and Order Code to include Sex Offender Registration (Sec. 6.126 to 6.140) for those convicted of Sex Offenses and living on the Hualapai reservation. Since that time the Federal Government passed the Adam Walsh Act in 2006 that set nationwide guidelines for Sex Offender registration, management and tracking of offenders and included tribes in the new law.

On July 19, 2007 the Hualapai Tribal Council elected to become a registration jurisdiction and to meet the Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act which is Title I of the Adam Walsh Child Protection and Safety Act of 2006 (Public Law 109-248). SORNA provides a comprehensive set of minimum standards for sex offender registration and notification in the United States including Indian Country.

By electing to become a registration jurisdiction the current Hualapai Sex Offender Registration law did not meet the SORNA minimum standards as outlined in the Adam Walsh Act. The tribal council passed Resolution 23-2007 and formed a committee to precede with the implementation of the SORNA requirements.

A major portion of the implementation is the revision of the current code to replace it with one that meets the minimum standards set by the Adam Walsh Act. The proposed code you see here in the Gamyu is the code being proposed for the tribe and we are seeking public comment and input on the code between now and April 29, 2011.

All written public's comments made can be turned into the Tribal Administration office where a box will be available for the comments to be turned in. The proposed changes to the code spell out specific information, steps, reporting requirements and penalties should a Sex Offender fail to register as required by law.

Our current code does not have specific requirements that say what a convicted Sex Offender must do to be compliant with the law other than register. By updating the code and making it SORNA compliant the Sex Offenders can now be held responsible for registration within the national standards set to help track and manage them.

By taking the time to review this proposed code change and submitting your comments you will help us in ensuring the community safety and build the capacity for the tribe to set the standards needed to reregister the Sex Offenders living, working, going to school and visiting Hualapai lands.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to be "Francis E. Bradley, Sr.", written over a circular blue ink stamp.

Francis E. Bradley, Sr., Chief of Police

SEX OFFENDER REGISTRATIONSec. 6.126 Terminology

The definitions below apply to Sections 6.126 through 6.138 of the Revised Law and Order Code:

- A. Convicted. An adult sex offender is "convicted" for the purposes of this code if the sex offender has been subject to penal consequences based on the conviction, however the conviction may be styled. This includes convictions of juveniles who are prosecuted as adults.
- B. Employee. The term "employee" as used in this code includes, but is not limited to, an individual who is self-employed or works for any other entity, regardless of compensation.
- C. Immediate. "Immediate" and "immediately" mean within 3 business days.
- D. Imprisonment. The term "imprisonment" refers to incarceration pursuant to a conviction, regardless of the nature of the institution in which the offender serves the sentence. The term is to be interpreted broadly to include, for example, confinement in a state "prison" as well as in a local or tribal "jail".
- E. Jurisdiction. The term "jurisdiction" as used in this code refers to the 50 states, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Northern Mariana Islands, the United States Virgin Islands, and any Indian tribe that has asserted jurisdiction pursuant to Section 127 of the SORNA.
- F. Minor. The term "minor" means an individual who has not attained the age of 18 years.
- G. Resides. The term "reside" or "resides" means, with respect to an individual, the location of the individual's home or other place where the individual habitually lives.
- H. Sex Offense. The term "sex offense" as used in this code is limited to those offenses contained in Section 111(5) of the SORNA.
- I. Sex Offender. A person convicted of a sex offense is a "sex offender".
- J. SORNA. The "SORNA" refers to the Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act as provided in Title I of the Adam Walsh Child Protection and Safety Act of 2006, P.L. 109-248 (as codified at 42 U.S.C. § 16901 et. seq.).
- K. Student. A "student" is a person who enrolls in or attends either a private or public education institution, including a secondary school, trade or professional school, or an institution of higher education.

Sec. 6.127 Covered Offenses

Offenders who reside within the exterior boundaries of the reservation or otherwise reside on property owned by the tribe in fee or trust regardless of location, are employed within the exterior boundaries of the reservation or on property owned by the tribe in fee or trust regardless of location, or who attend school within the exterior boundaries of the reservation or on property owned by the tribe in fee or trust regardless of location, that have been convicted of the following offenses are subject to the requirements of this code:

- A. Attempts and Conspiracies. Any attempt or conspiracy to commit any sex offense.
- B. Federal Offenses. A conviction for any of the following, and any other offense here after included within the SORNA:
 - 1. 18 U.S.C. §1591 (sex trafficking of children),
 - 2. 18 U.S.C. §2241 (aggravated sexual abuse),
 - 3. 18 U.S.C. §2242 (sexual abuse),
 - 4. 18 U.S.C. §2243 (sexual abuse of a minor or ward),
 - 5. 18 U.S.C. §2245 (offenses resulting in death),
 - 6. 18 U.S.C. §2251 (sexual exploitation of children),
 - 7. 18 U.S.C. §2251A (selling or buying of children),
 - 8. 18 U.S.C. §2252 (material involving the sexual exploitation of a minor),

“Character Corner”

Every month at Peach Springs Elementary School our students participate in character education. We do this in many ways. We will be publishing the word of the month in this column so that families can also talk about and teach this trait at home.

April's word is Trustworthiness

Trustworthiness means:

- being honest with others.

It also means:

- keeping promises so that others can depend on you and trust you.

PEACH SPRINGS SCHOOLReading Rockets!

Most of the students at Peach Springs School are working diligently and making remarkable progress in one or more areas. However, a particular group of readers have made such significant accomplishments since the beginning of this school year that we would like to let you know who they are.

In Kindergarten through First, the students are:

Donnell, Angelia, Edmundo, Darius, Jaimison, and Trevin.

In the third through fourth grade the students are:

Nakita, Severio, Marshall, DeLaynee, Ahmad, Clarissa, and Diamond.

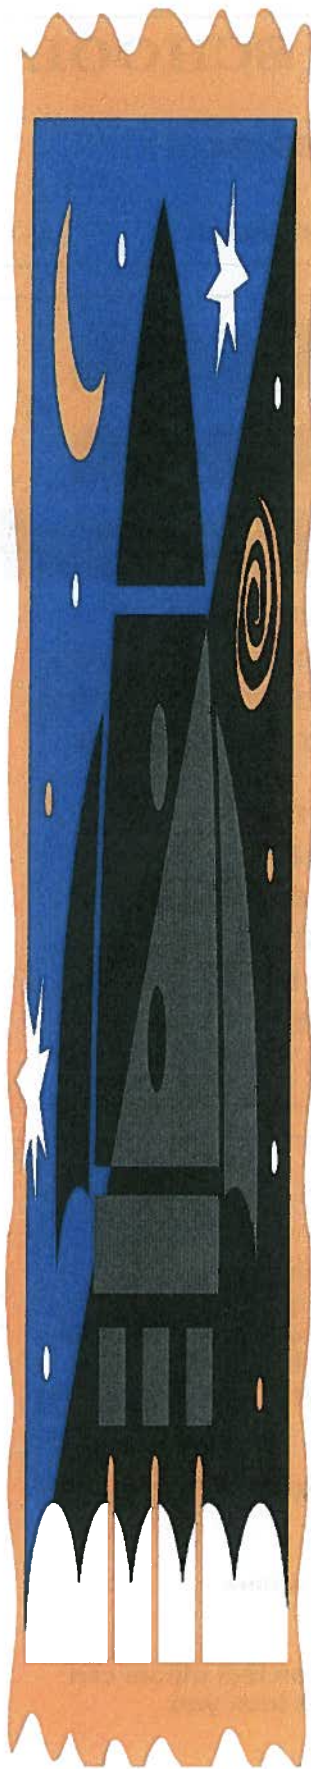

These students have demonstrated so much growth in reading skill development that they have moved to the "Benchmark" category.

All of these students' reading skills were measured at the beginning of the year and monitored regularly. In order to qualify for the "Benchmark" label, the students had to reach a national standard and maintain that score for three consecutive scoring periods. This is not a small task!

Make no mistake; there is no magic happening. In addition, there is not a single teacher in the world who can give a student reading skills. Reading skills develop from concerted effort, consistent practice, diligence, and - hard work. These students have reached this goal through their own intentional efforts.

If you see any of these students, please congratulate them for a job well done!

Shocking mug shots reveal toll of drug abuse

In-your-face photos aim to scare teens straight by striking their vanity

By Linda Carroll

With disturbing before and after photos of drug users' faces, a new anti-drug campaign may succeed where others have failed, grabbing teens' attentions by appealing to their vanity.

The pairs of mug shots, which graphically display the damage drugs can do to the face, were collected by the sheriff's office in Multnomah County, Ore.

Faces that were normal — even attractive — in initial photos, shot when addicts were first arrested, metamorphose over years, and sometimes just months, into gaunt, pitted, even toothless wrecks.

The photos are part of a 48-minute documentary called "From Drugs to Mugs," created by Deputy Bret King. King hopes that the documentary, which is available on a DVD along with a CD of mug shots, will help scare kids straight by showing them concrete evidence of damage that can occur within months from using meth, heroin or cocaine.

"The thinking is that this will give kids a tangible image of what can happen if they get involved in using hard drugs," King says. "We did want to appeal to their sense of vanity." King understands the power of that teen vanity. "I remember in high school you had to have the right clothes, the right shoes, the right look," he says. Perhaps the most stunning feature of the photos is how quickly the face is damaged. That speed isn't surprising to addiction experts.

Meth, for example, can cause small blood vessels around the face to constrict, says A. Thomas McLellan, director of the Center for Substance Abuse Solutions at the University of Pennsylvania. "So consequently, the gums shrink as they do in old age," says McLellan, also former deputy director of the United States Office of National Drug Control Policy.

"The teeth that remain can become discolored and black." Both meth and heroin are often cut with sugar, McLellan explains. "And you get acne from oily or sweet things, so if you're injecting the sugar into your veins it's even more direct," he adds. Other impurities can cause lumpy cysts on the face and other areas of the body, such as the armpits and groin, McLellan says.

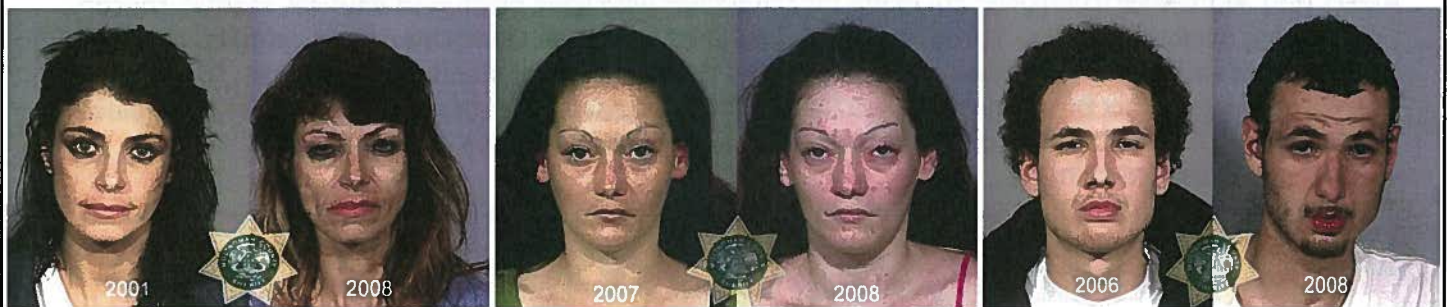

The gaunt look on many of the addicts can be the result of poor nutrition and lack of sleep, says Dr. Larissa Mooney, an addiction psychiatrist and an assistant clinical professor of psychiatry at the University of California, Los Angeles. As for the facial sores:

Sometimes meth users will hallucinate and get the sensation that there are bugs crawling under their skin, Mooney says. Trying to get relief, they'll sometimes pick at their skin until there are open sores.

Experts can't say whether the program will work, but Mooney and McLellan are hopeful. "The video is trying to tap into something that is important to young people," Mooney says. "It's less abstract than telling someone they'll get lung cancer many years down the line.

This is something you can actually see right now."

McLellan agrees that the short time to facial devastation may have a big impact on kids. "Some of these photos show changes in less than six months," he says. "This is the kind of time frame kids understand."

New Hope Hospice

Philosophy of Hospice Care

Despite all the advances in diagnosis and treatment, a cure is not always possible. Continued treatment, even if available may compromise a patient's quality of life. After discussion with your physician and consideration of treatment options and the potential outcomes, it may be appropriate to consider palliative (comfort) care. Some patients and families are frightened by the word hospice, believing that all treatments will be discontinued. But many kinds of treatment may be continued to provide comfort and relief of pain.

The hospice philosophy embraces a holistic approach that encompasses physical, emotional and spiritual concerns. The hospice philosophy:

When medical treatments have been exhausted or the burden of the treatment outweighs the benefits, it may be time to consider hospice care.

Most people would like to be surrounded by friends and family. By bringing services into the home, the hospice team can help patients and families provide the care needed.

Dispatcher's Prayer

Dear Lord, help me keep safe those who depend on me.

Give me healthy ears, for they are my link with those who need me.

Keep my mind sharp and alert my fingers quick and nimble.

Grant that I never forget how to do ten things at once, and do them all equally well.

Bless me with patience Lord.

Patience to deal with the public, with the officers, with the firefighters,
And with everyone else who makes me want to grit my teeth and yell.

Give me nerves of steel.

That I may listen to a mother screaming for her child to live, the man with a gun, the family watching their home go up in flames, or a request for backup or more equipment and not give way to panic.

Grant me empathy, that I may help the caller in need,
and not cause them more pain than they already have.

God, give me the ability to learn what I need, to remember it quickly, and give me the wisdom to use the knowledge properly.

Bless my family Lord, for they will have to make sacrifices to shift work, overtime, canceled plans and times when I just can't take on one more thing.

Help them understand the missed ball games, school programs and dinners for two.

Lord, give me courage. Courage to persevere when I feel undervalued, Unappreciated, overworked and unrecognized.

Courage to keep trying when I feel in my heart it's hopeless.

Last of all Lord, help me to never forget why I chose this job in the first place, to never lose sight of what is important in the midst of the stress.

Help me to remember that I make a difference.

however small it may seem some days, and that I matter.

I am a dispatcher, Lord, grant me peace...

*I would like to recognize and acknowledge the fine work that our law enforcement dispatchers do for our community. Thank you
